SERIOUS VIOLENCE REDUCTION ORDERS

- Serious Violence Reduction Orders will target knife offenders.
- SVROs will allow the police to stop and search those who have been convicted of relevant offences.
- Serious Violence Reduction Orders would give the police the automatic right to search those who pose the greatest risk.
- Subject to the consultation, SVROs will apply to adults only.

POLICE UPLIFT

- On 30 July 2020, we announced that we have recruited an additional 4,336 officers up to March
- As at 30 June 2020, there were a total of 133,131 officers in the 43 territorial police forces in England and Wales.
- Forces are therefore well on their way to meeting the first target of 6,000 additional officers in England and Wales by March 2021.
- A year on from the launch of the Uplift Programme, it is fantastic to see 100,000 people have applied to forces with over 4,000 recruits having already joined.
- The 'joining the police' website has had over 1 million new user visits since campaign launch on 5 September 2019

POLICE DIVERSITY

- While the police workforce is more diverse in terms of gender and ethnicity than it has ever been, there is still much more to be done.
- We must harness this unprecedented opportunity
- Recruitment is not the only way in which forces can improve equality and diversity.
- We are also working with the College and other policing partners to go much further in addressing the lack of diversity at senior levels in policing.

EFFICIENCY AND RESOURCES

Sprint

- Positive engagement with majority of force areas to collate efficiency plans across 5 priority areas: agile working; estates; commercial and procurement; service level, design and systems change; and transforming enabling services
- Informed SR return but recognise need for continued engagement

We will establish a Productivity and Efficiency Working Group consisting of Home Office and sector representatives. We'd welcome APACE support with this work.

COVID-19

- We have done all we can to ensure forces have the resources and support they need to keep themselves and the public safe;
- The COVID-19 response from the Programme has demonstrated the merits of continued collaborative working within policing and the Government;
- As well as repurposing the £84m of the ringfence grant, we have also brought forward payment of the £142.6 million police pensions grant;

We have listened to your views on the PCC review over the summer..

Home Office

KEEPING
TOGETHER

Scope of Part 1:

Strengthening accountability

Fire governance and reform

Mayoral devolution

Research methods and engagement over the summer:

- Individual interviews
- Written submissions
- Thematic workshops
- Regional events
- Public survey and focus groups; third sector engagement, academic sources and think tanks

Next steps

- Final report submitted to the Home Secretary in late October.
- Agreed recommendations communicated to the sector, following the National Policing Board in early November.
- Part two of the review will start after the May 2021 elections – focusing on further ways to expand the PCC role, as well as longer-term reform.

We will welcome further APACE engagement on Part 2.

- There has been significant reform in the fire and rescue sector since 2016 with the creation of the NFCC and independent inspection through HMICFRS.
- But the Grenfell Tower tragedy, Manchester Arena attack and inaugural State of Fire and Rescue report have set a challenging agenda in the fire sector. It is clear we need to go further to deliver more fundamental reform across a range of areas.
- The Fire Minister, Lord Greenhalgh, has been engaging partners across the sector to focus the reform agenda around improvements in three key pillars:
  - Professionalism
  - People
  - Governance
